I. Rationale:

To provide students with the ability to make and create lifelong musical experiences through comprehension in instrumental music.

II. Course Aims and Outcomes:

This is an elective course for wind and percussion members with experience on the instrument. Students must have taken a beginning Band class, private lessons, OR be able to pass a basic skills test prior to enrolling in the course. Students will improve technique on their individual instruments, including technical facility and tone production. Students will also grow as musicians, broadening their cultural understandings through the study and performance of many different types of music. The course also includes music fundamentals, theory, performances, listening, improvising, and engaging in critical thinking skills. In addition, students will be encouraged to attend performances, as well as perform themselves.

Specific Learning Outcomes:

- (c) In case of excused absences, you must notify me BEFORE the day of the absence. Unexcused absences will result in loss of the daily points. Tardies will result in a loss of half of the daily points.
- (d) All daily points are available to be made up with either a music write up or a proof of attendance related to a musical performance or concert.

35% - Learning Activities: quizzes, playing tests

- (a) All songs or pieces taught in class will be checked off through comprehensive playing tests by the instructor.
